Dear Parents/Guardians,

Pastoral Care Lesson - Overview

Today your son engaged in a pastoral care lesson with a focus on the Three Violets. Parents and families were notified about the Three Violets in last week's edition of High Notes.

During today's lesson, teachers informed students of the meaning of the Three Violets and the process they must engage in to achieve this form of recognition. Students were also made aware that through engaging in this process of intrinsic reflection and recognition, they learn more about themselves as a person and they have the opportunity to develop their letter writing skills, which will serve them well when applying for jobs and university.

Please peruse the three documents below, which students received and navigated their way through this morning.

Question to ask your son: Explain some reasons why striving to achieve recognition of the Three Violets would be a valuable experience.

Yours sincerely,

Matthew Fitzgerald
